SOX BEAT NATS 8-3, GIVING RED FABER HIS TENTH VICTORY Mulligan's Homer and Triple Toney's Curves Drive in Five Chicago Runs

Recruit Third Baseman from Salt Lake Swings Damaging Mace. Erick Hammered When He Replaces Mogridge in Ninth.

By JACK NYE.

Red Faber, pitching ace of the White Sox, and Eddie Mulligan, retruit third baseman from Salt Lake City, collaborated yesterday to take a fall out of the fast-going Nationals in the second game of the series, score, 8 to 3.

The fiery haired boxman demonstrated the ability that has made him the sensation of the league and hung up his tenth victory of the With the exception of one inning he was the complete master of the situation. In the third he wobbled a bit and the Nats counted all of their funs. Before and after that time it was a row of goose eggs, every budding rally being nipped in its infancy.

MEET MR. MULLIGAN.

Mulligan Has a Big Day.

In spite of Faber's excellent work he would have had a hard time getting away with the decision but Mulligan's fancy stickwork. The kid from the coast drove in ave runs during the afternoon. In the second inning he slammed a home run to left field with Johnson on first. He clinched the vic-tory in the ninth when he came up with the bases full and tripled to right center, scoring himself on Har-ris' error. The first blow was made off Mogridge and the last one off Erickson, who hurled the final frame and made a general mess of things. Advertised as a duel between Faber and Mogridge, our own leading pitcher, the game was a tight affair ntil McBride lifted his southpaw in the eighth to allow Milan to do some emergency batting. At that time the Sox were leading 4 to 3 and it was hoped that Erick would quell them inthe ninth to give the locals a chance to stage one of the well known rallies.

The big Swede, however, was in r form. He filled the bases walking Strunk, hitting Yaryan and allowing Johnson to single to right. Then up came Mr. Mulligan. There were two strikes on him when he slapped one to the scoreboard for three sacks.

Trifles Don't Worry Faber.

Faber gave an excellent exhibi-tion of his skill in the first inning when consecutive singles by Judge, Harris and Rice filled the bases with none out. It looked like a flock of runs for Washington, but the titian haired slabber lost no time in putting an end to all such foolish ideas. Brower grounded son. 2: off Faber. 4. In their half of the third the Nats took the lead with their three runs and, for the time being, three runs and for the three three bases of didn't look so good. There were two out when the rally started, which is the usual thing with the Griffs. Rice walked and stole. Brower singled past Colstole. Brower singled past out ins. counting Sam. Ruth Hits 16th Homer; Ties Cravath's Record

Friday was a great day for Babe Ruth, even if he did start it badly by striking out. He got his sixteenth homer of the season and the 119th of his career, tying Gavvy Cravath's world's record for major league home runs. Cravath began his collection in 1908 and finished it last year. Ruth began his in 1914. And this is what he did today:

First inning, struck out. Fourth inning, hit the center field bleachers for a three-bagger, secoring on Pipp's sacrifice.

Sixth inning, drove his sixteenth home run for 1921 into the lower tier of the right-field

Seventh inning, was purposely ending Mitchell to third. Mitchell subsequently scored.
